

Penn Capital Multi-Credit High Income Fund

Investment Strategy

The Fund

The Fund focuses on corporate bonds and loans with speculative grade credit ratings. The consolidation of high yield bonds and floating rate loans into one category ("high yield credit") effectively doubles the universe for crossover investors, improving the potential to capture underpriced issues and allowing for tactical asset class exposure.

The Approach

The Fund seeks to capture relative value opportunities with fundamental, bottom-up research and tactical asset class exposure. The Fund also seeks to avoid common credit market pitfalls. Our research has observed a trend of high holdings count, high fee, and/or capacity unconstrained high yield funds which we believe detracts from an optimal risk-return profile.

The Features

By utilizing a high conviction, capacity constrained approach to target quality high yield credit opportunities, the Fund has historically provided competitive returns with less volatility than the ICE BofA High Yield Index.

Description of Indices and Terms: The ICE BofA High Yield Bond Index is a market value-weighted index designed to measure the performance of the US high yield bond market. The S&P/LSTA Leveraged Loan Index is a market value-weighted index designed to measure the performance of the US leveraged loan market. The BbgBarc Aggregate Bond Index is a market-value weighted index designed to measure the performance of the aggregate investment grade US bond market. An investor cannot directly invest in an index.

Fund Risks: The Fund is subject to the following risks, among others: ETF risk, which is the risk that the fund is subject to the same risks as the underlying securities in which the ETF invests as well as entails higher expenses than if invested into the underlying ETF directly; foreign securities and ADRs, which involve certain risks such as currency volatility, political and social instability and reduced market liquidity. Investments in REITs may be more susceptible to adverse developments affecting a single project or market segment than more broadly diversified investments. As interest rates rise the value of bond prices will decline. Credit risk refers to the loss in the value of a security based on a default in the payment of principle and/or interest of the security. High-yield bonds have a higher risk of default or other adverse credit events. Bank loans may have similar risks to below investment grade fixed income securities. In the event of the insolvency of an agent bank, a loan could be subject to settlement risk as well as the risk of interruptions in the day to day administration of the loan. There is the possibility that the Fund may lose money or be prevented from realizing capital gains if it cannot sell a security at a particular time and price. Liquidity risk can be more pronounced in periods of market turmoil.

Standard deviation is a measure of the dispersion of a set of data from its mean. Sharpe ratio is the average return earned in excess of the risk-free rate per unit of volatility or total risk. Modified duration measures bond price sensitivity to a change in interest rates, specifically the effect that a 1 percent interest rate change will have on the price of the bond.
